Expected selectivity

Admission to all Master's programmes is selective of nature: students will need to meet specific entry requirements. The entry requirements are listed on our website. Please refer to the information on application and admission per programme. In case of highly competitive programmes: in addition to meeting the specific entry requirements, the best candidates will be selected on basis of all facets of their application file. Please refer to the table above for an indication on expected selectivity based on previous numbers of applications received and places available.

Late applications

Late applications will not be possible unless explicitly stated in the overview above. Late applications will be processed on a first come, first serve basis after all applications received before the deadline have been processed. Timely handling of late applications will be aimed for, but cannot be guaranteed.

Please note that selection may close after late submission and before the application can be processed and considered. If processing for the desired moment of enrolment appears not to be feasible anymore, the application will be processed for the next available moment of enrolment (if any).

Please also note that submitting an application form after the deadline will be at your own risk. We may not be able to process your application in time or at all. Hard copy documents cannot be returned.

For students needing a visa and/or housing after admission, late applications will not be possible.

Questions and contact

If you have any questions about the programme(s) and application procedure, please contact the Admissions Office.
