After your study

The ever-increasing importance and complexity of public international law is reflected in a growing demand for professionals specializing in this area of law. Our graduates for example work:

For government departments (Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Ministry of Justice)

In international organizations (UN, WTO, EU)

In non-governmental public interest organizations (Amnesty International; Greenpeace)

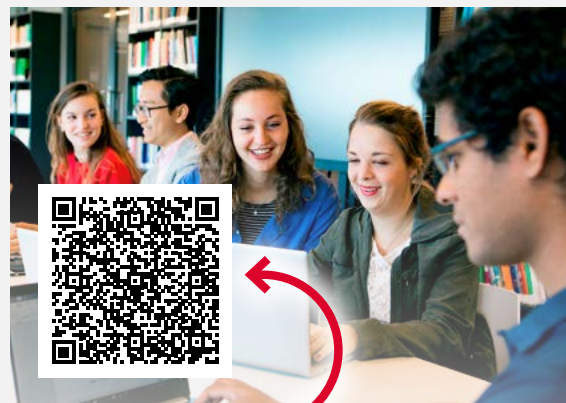

In national and international courts (International Court of Justice and the International Criminal Court)

In law firms and multinational corporations

ALP: Amsterdam Law Practice

The Public International Law Master's offers a tailor-made experiential education programme under the wing of the Amsterdam Law Practice (ALP).

In the courses of ALP, you apply your academic knowledge of the law and the skills you have learned by putting yourself in the shoes of a legal professional. The courses build a bridge to society and the future professional field.

For more information on electives, go to: uva.nl/llm-public-international-law and look under 'Study programme'. For this track a selection procedure applies whereby each application for admission is evaluated by the programme's Selection Board.
