Courses

Courses are mainly 6 ECTS (one block, 8 weeks) or 12 ECTS (two blocks, 16 weeks) and are mostly offered in the first two blocks of the semester. Students are expected to take a minimum of 24 ECTS per semester. A maximum of 36 ECTS per semester is allowed but not recommended since this is a very high workload for 16 weeks.

Students are expected to have an appropriate background in the field they choose. Most of the English taught courses are year 3 courses (final bachelor year); next to these courses there are some courses on a more introductory level as they serve as starting course in one of the minors. Next to these courses, students are allowed to register for a maximum of 2 courses at another faculty, for example from the Exchange Programme - Humanities, with whom the Faculty of Social and Behavioural Sciences collaborates, or placement in courses of the BSc Future Planet Studies and in the elective courses of the Institute for Interdisciplinary Studies.

Placement in courses is in all cases dependent on the background of students and on places available. Students are strongly advised to have alternatives at hand during course registration. Changes in course registration after the course registration period will not be possible. When placement in courses of their choice is not possible we discuss options with the students individually.

Master level exchange students will have to choose courses on bachelor level to be able to do an Erasmus semester in the Exchange Programme Social and Behavioural Sciences. All Psychology (Research) Master's programmes are selective, courses of these programmes are therefore not open to exchange students.

The courses offered in the Exchange Programme Social and Behavioural Sciences are organized around the following research priority areas and research focus points:

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Child Development and Education • Anthropology of the body • Anthropology of religion • Political anthropology • Anthropology of economy and ecology • Courses about a wide variety of regions • Communication and Society • Economic and financial geography • Environmental geography and planning • Political Geography • Urban Studies • International development Studies • Global Health, Care and Society • Global Migration • Urban Studies • Conflict studies • Gender & Sexuality studies • International Relations • Social Interactions and Interdependencies • Power, Culture, Identity 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Society, Social Action and Inequality • Culture and Structure • Political Economy • Public Policy and Governance • Comparative Politics • Political Theory • Middle Eastern Studies • European Politics and Global Change • Work and Organisational Psychology • Brain and Cognition • Social Psychology • Psychological Methods • Clinical Developmental Psychology • Clinical Psychology • Intersectionalities (class, race, gender & sexualities) • Urban Places & Social Problems • Migration & Citizenship • Health & Society • Education & Work • Globalising Cultures

Updated programme information and course descriptions are available in the Course catalogue after June 1.

Please note: There have been some changes in the Bachelor Programme Psychology since 2020-2021. More restricted-choice electives with no requirement of Psychology background now take place in the first semester. Many restricted-choice electives, our so called 'specialisation courses', where a background in Psychology is required take place in the second semester.

Transcripts will be sent to the home institution within 5 weeks after the end of the semester.
